

Coming from a Computer science background, why on earth would you want to regulate (to death) something that should be left alone. Yes I realize the benefit of wire tapping phone line, even VOIP, but this country is responding to criminal acts by buttoning up the community when it should be helping to get the community communicating and revealing these criminal acts in an organized manner.